

SURVEY OF WOLF ROAD BEGUN

Ill. Tax Commission
Head Hits Cook County
Tax Racketeering Evil

The state tax commission ordered the reassessment in Cook county because tax fixing and racketeering under the old system threatened to break down local government and create a chaotic condition never before equaled in American municipal history.

William H. Malone, Chairman of the Illinois Tax Commission told an audience at the Oak Hills club Tuesday evening, October 15. The South west Towns Chamber of Commerce sponsored the meeting.

"To show you that the taxing machinery of Cook county had virtually broken down you have only to go to the records where you will find that more than 100,000 complaints of taxpayers had been filed with the board of review and the board of assessors, while more than 40,000 suits had been filed in the Cook county courts. It would have taken 15 years to try all these cases if every taxpayer was to be given a square deal.

"Politicians, shyster lawyers, tax fixers and racketeers were lining their pockets with ill gotten dollars, blackmailing taxpayers, threatening others with heavy assessments if they failed to contribute to political campaign chests, and taking money that rightfully should stay in the pockets of the poor home owner.

"When we investigated this indefensible condition that had gradually fastened itself upon the discouraged property owners of Chicago and Cook county we found at least one of the reasons for the gross inequalities and rank favoritism. The local taxing bodies had failed to comply with the law which specifically provides for publishing the tax roll every four years so every man may know what his neighbor is paying. This law had been disobeyed for nearly 30 years. Behind this veil of secrecy tax fixing spread over Chicago and Cook county until political leaders, ward committeemen, precinct captains, even local assessing officials took advantage of the situation to fix taxes on their own property and that of their friends, profiting the while from their illegal operations.

"The law creating the tax commission specifically states that whenever it shall appear that there has not been substantial compliance with the law requiring uniformity in assessments, that whenever property has been improperly or unequally assessed the tax commission may in its discretion in any year order a reassessment of all the property in that county.

"Our first move was to compel the local officials to obey the law and publish the tax roll. They refused to do this on the ground that the tax commission was exceeding its authority. The law on this point happened to be somewhat ambiguous. I went to the governor, laid the situation before him and urged that he call a special session of the legislature to clarify the power and authority of the tax commission in order that the taxpayers in Cook county be treated alike and given a square deal. That session was called and necessary legislation was passed without a dissenting vote. Shortly after a second order of publication was issued and in July 1928 the old tax roll known as the 1927 quadrennial assessment was published and a copy mailed to every taxpayer in the county so he could tell what his neighbor paid. You know the result of that publication. For weeks Chicago newspapers published pictures of homes and buildings disclosing the glaring inequalities that existed in assessments.

"Two houses, side by side, identical in every detail built at the same time by the same contractor, one assessed 24 times as much as the other, the one paying a small tax owned by a precinct captain, the other by a defenseless taxpayer who had no friend to fix his taxes, is an example of conditions that were rife all over Cook county. There was nothing left to do but order a reassessment of all the property in the county.

"You know how the tax fixers and continued on back page

Proposed New Road At Mokena
Knocked Out

The proposed highway paralleling the Rock Island railroad from the Mokena road east to route 51 on which a public hearing was held at the Mokena school auditorium last Monday night, was overwhelmingly defeated. There were many objections registered against this highway on the ground that it would mean a death trap at the intersection of route 51. A very vigorous protest was also made against the closing of the Cappel crossing as had been advocated by the Rock Island railroad.

The Frankfort township board composed by Supervisor Wm. Kampe, Town Clerk, Henry J. Geuther, Justice of the Peace John Clark and highway commissioner Emil D. Cappel, represented the township. Will H. Smith, supt. of highways represented Will County, the Rock Island was represented by Mr. Kohn, road master. Mr. Shedd, supt. of the department of Safety and their division engineer, Mr. Ford. The Chicago Motor Club also was represented.

Among the speakers against the closing of the Cappel crossing and the building of the proposed highway on the ground that the road was not a necessity were Attorney Garney of Joliet who is interested in farm land near Mokena, attorney A. H. Krusemark, Clarence Cleveland, Christ Hohenstein and N. F. Hieman.

L. G. Bruder who got up the petition made an address upholding the petition saying it was filed only as a safety means for the traveling public. Even tho the petition failed in its purpose, yet it did a great deal of good to bring about protection of the Cappel crossing which it is admitted is a dangerous crossing.

SUES FOR DEATH OF HUSBAND

A suit for $10,000 damages was filed in the circuit court recently by Mrs. Alice Stalker against Harold Ebbert, 21 years old of Frankfort township, whose machine struck and killed Robert Stalker, her husband, 119 Crockston St., October 16, 1928.

Only the praecipe for summons has been filed. Stalker was killed as he stepped in front of Ebbert's automobile near the Powers-Thompson construction camp, a mile and one-half east of Mokena. He had been employed by the construction company as a cement finisher and was living at the camp.

At the time of the accident, it was said that he walked to the road, about 40 feet from the camp and crossed it near the Rock Island railroad tracks. Ebbert was driving east while another car was approaching from the opposite direction.

Stalker is alleged to have walked from behind the westbound car into the path of Ebbert's machine.

Besides his widow, Stalker is survived by four sons.

The Crowd and Jack Eddy Has Come and Gone

Tinley Park's large hall, the famous old "Saenger Hall" could not hold the great crowd which packed it beyond the limit at Gus Schmeckpeper's annual dance bringing yearly to Tinley Jack Eddy, the famous music maker. The old tunes as played by Jack Eddy are well known to Tinley, Blue Island and surrounding towns and for 37 years has made happy many feet and minds.

Herman Heitschmidt and his famous clarinet and sax, leader of the German Band well known radio feature on WLS, and known to many radio fans, was on the job. The large, merry crowd danced to the familiar numbers rendered. The old square dance, etc., will remain real in their memory for some time. "Good luck to you Jack," the crowd roared as he played "Good Night Ladies". We will be here when you come again.

GARDEN CLUB ORGANIZES FIRST CHAPTER

A meeting of special interest to all members was held at the home of Mrs. Wallace B. Combs when she organized the first chapter of the Tinley Park Garden Club, Monday afternoon, Oct. 14, at 2:30 o'clock. Assisting Mrs. Combs were Mrs. R. J. Hug, president of the mother club, Mrs. J. E. Swisher publicity chairman, and Mrs. E. Moss who acted in the capacity of secretary for the afternoon. Mrs. Combs opened the meeting in her efficient manner with an impressive address. Mrs. Hug with her usual charm followed with a few sincere words of welcome. Mrs. Swisher was asked to speak concluding with the reading of a letter from Mrs. G. Kendall, explaining the object of the chapter. The club next voted on a name, and will be known in the future as ROSE CHAPTER, number one. Mrs. Combs was elected president for the first year. After the business meeting, Mrs. Grace Asher gave a very interesting sketch on Indian Life, which was enjoyed by all. Marked enthusiasm was shown in all branches of the work by the members who are as follows: Ruth, Bates, Clara Hicks, Grace Asher, Mable Schmidt, Lois Deever, Olga Murray, and Bertha Schultz. Several names were presented for active membership in addition to the above mentioned, showing signs of rapid growth of their chapter. The next meeting will be held Nov. 4th at the home of Mrs. Grace Asher. Two thirty is the time. Mrs. Combs served her guests with hot coffee, cake and candy. Any women interested in becoming a member of this organization kindly communicate with the committee Mrs. W. B. Combs, Mrs. R. J. Hug or Mrs. J. E. Swisher. A hearty welcome awaits you.

MR. HUDSON LECTURES TO CLUB

Thursday afternoon, October 10th the Garden Club members gathered at the spacious home of Mrs. Wm. Funk and enjoyed a most interesting lecture presented by Mr. Hudson from the Vaughn Seed Store, Chicago. Mr. Hudson came well prepared with an abundance of beautifully colored pictures, naming the same to the entire group. He spoke on the Iris and Peony as perennials, used in the finest of landscaped gardens, saying that every garden is lacking without representative plants of some of these varieties. His next topic was "Tulips for a color scheme" naming and showing the picture of each variety. In the red Darwin class mention was made of the Scarlet Emperor, Harry Veitch, and Eclipse. (Pink Darwin) Clara Butt, Princess Elizabeth, Queen of Hearts and Afterglow. (Orchid and Violet Darwin), Gryphus and Attraction. (Rembrandt) Vesta, also the Byblos striped tulip. Every member was delighted when Mr. Hudson told of very beautiful Christmas tulips to be grown in pots for winter blooming. These may be purchased at Vaughn's. Next discussed were the kinds and culture of narcissus, Chinese Scared Lily (Narcissus) Syacanthus, Daffodils, Crocus, Scillas, Muscari, Lilium Adratuip, Lilium Rubrum, and in fact all of the bulbous plants, for both in and out-of-doors planting. During the afternoon Mr. Hudson told some very clever anecdotes, and all were sorry when he was rushed away to the train. The Garden Club appreciates the kindness shown them by the Vaughn Seed Store, and also congratulates the firm for having an employee so efficient and entertaining a young man as Mr. Hudson proved himself. The hostess served a delicious iced drink and candy.

$14,000 Parish
House For Orland

A new brick rectory to cost about $14,000 is being planned by Rev. W. A. Gorey to adjoin the St. Michael church on Highland avenue in Orland Park. Parishioners have been assessed $50 a family—altho those who are not able to meet such an assessment are not expected to contribute that amount. The 2 car garage which now serves as the rectory has been in use three years.

PLAY COMING TO MOKENA FRI.
Do not forget the entertainment, Chin-Doo this Friday evening, Oct. 18, at 8 o'clock. The play is given under the auspices of the Mokena P. T. A., in the new school auditorium.

BOYS PILE LUMBER ON
R. I. TRACKS

A Rock Island fast passenger train west bound due in Mokena about ten a. m., crashed into a pile of lumber which had been placed on the tracks a short distance east of Mokena by two Blue Island boys, giving their names as Bernard Permyan and Daniel Rubino, both sixteen years old. They were nabbed by signal maintainer J. H. Nord-sall of Mokena who brought them to Mokena where they were held until Special Agent Walter Stockard of the Rock Island arrived and took them to the Will County jail at Joliet. It is said these boys broke into the Oak Forest depot Tuesday night and robbed the gum machine.

When questioned why they attempted to wreck the train they said they had not given it a thought.

Orland People
In Auto Crash

Mrs. Albert Zenke and two sons, Norman and Howard of Orland Park met with an automobile accident on Oct. 5th at 81st and Peoria street, Chicago. Mrs. Zenke was in riding in her father's car which was hit by a car driven by a young man. He was traveling over 30 miles an hour when he hit the Zenke car. Both cars were damaged and Mrs. Zenke and her sons were injured and were taken to the Auburn Park hospital. They remained in the hospital until October 11. They received bad cuts, bruises and other injuries.

Cook Co. Board
Sold On S. W.
Highway Kriz

At a dinner and meeting of the Southwest Towns Chamber of Commerce held at Oak Hill Club house, Palos Park Tuesday night, County Commissioner Kriz of Western Springs stated that the Cook County Board is sold on the Southwest Highway. He said that a few short pieces of right of way have to be secured yet and when this is done and the grade separations at 119th street and at Keane avenue north-east of Orland are completed the new highway will be finished. He thought this would take about a year.

Commissioner Jarnowski read a report of the roads the south side of the county has received. The cost of same and also gave a list of roads lined up for next year. Route 52 is to be one of the roads to be pushed by Commissioner Jarnowski.

Ed. Cowan of Palos was the chairman and is to be complimented on the success of the dinner and the meeting which was much enjoyed. Guests were present from Lemont, Orland Park, Oak Lawn, Blue Island and Mokena.

TINLEY HOUSES NUMBERED

The Tinley Park Lions Club has given the village a citified air the past week by placing the house numbers on residences and business places. The numbers are black on an aluminum background.

NEW DENTIST AT ORLAND

Orland Park has had another new business added the past week by way of a new dental parlor which was opened last week in the Zerb's building by Dr. R. E. Benedict of Chicago. The new dental parlor will be open Wednesday and Saturday afternoons and evenings.

Will County Bond Issue
Committee Orders Road
Built On Senator R. J.
Barr's Recommendation

Paving of the Wolf road in Will County from the Cook and Will County line south thru Mokena to Lincoln highway, which Mokena people have been fighting for for several years, is about to become a reality soon. Actual survey work on Wolf road was begun Wednesday morning of this week and as soon as this work is completed and the plans are approved by the state highway department, contracts will be let for the bridge across Hickory Creek and for the paving of the highway.

Several weeks ago a meeting was held in the office of the News-Bulletin at which were present Charles Hirsch, Ona E. McGovney, J. V. Hall, and the editor. Just previous to this meeting the News-Bulletin had been running articles advocating that the warring factions in Mokena pass around the olive branch and work in harmony in order to accomplish things for the community.

At the meeting in News-Bulletin office, the editor advocated and appointed a citizens committee and named two men, leaders of each of the factions and the highway commissioner of Frankfort township to serve on this committee. The committee is as follows: J. V. Hall, Wm. Semmler, Charles Hirsch, Ona E. McGovney and Emil D. Cappel.

The first move made was to hold a meeting at the home of Fred Francis, supervisor of New Lenox township and chairman of the Will County Bond Issue Road Committee for the purpose of discussing the paving of Wolf road thru Mokena. No definite action was promised. A few days later the editor and Mr. Hall took the matter up with Walter Krohn, treasurer of Will County and who is much interested in Mokena. Mr. Krohn recommended that the matter be taken up with Senator Richard J. Barr and he volunteered to speak for the Mokena committee. The editor informed the members of the committee of the offer of Mr. Krohn and it was promptly accepted and Mr. Krohn arranged for a conference with Senator Barr for last Friday afternoon in his office in Joliet. L. G. Bruder, who has done a great deal of work for Wolf road had been asked to attend this meeting but was not able to attend.

At this session Mr. Krohn went into detail regarding the highway situation and pointed out to the Senator that Mokena is the only town in Will County that has no hard road connection. He showed that Wolf Road is on the county bond issue and that there are ample funds on hand for its construction and asked the Senator to use his influence with the county bond issue committee to consider the paving of Wolf road next year. The Senator was impressed with the importance of Wolf road, not only to Mokena, but to the counties of Will and Cook and even the state as well, as Wolf road is the lonnest highway in the state running north and south and connecting with all east and west roads entering Chicago.

In view of the importance of the highway, Senator Barr said he was ready to do all he could to push along the construction of this road. Senator Barr called for a special meeting of Fred Francis and the county bond issue and the Mokena committee at his office on Monday morning of this week.

At this meeting the Senator pointed out to the county committee the importance of Wolf road and urgent need of paving this road by next year. He recommended that survey work on the right of way be begun at once from the Cook and Will County line thru Mokena and thru the Clarence Cleveland farm to the Lincoln highway, thus doing away with all curves and making the Wolf road one straight line highway. He also recommended that after the survey is completed, right of way be secured and contracts let for the construction of a bridge over Hickory creek south of Mokena and for the paving of the road, all this construction work to be begun early next spring. After listening to the Senator's suggestions and recommendations, Fred Francis, chairman and all members of the bond issue committee agreed to follow out Senator Barr's recommendations to build Wolf road next spring and agreed to order an immediate survey of Wolf road. At first it was thought it might take a week or ten days before the survey work could be started, but great was the surprise in Mokena Tuesday when County Engineer Fletcher and his staff of surveyors appeared in the village and began the actual initial survey work on Wolf road.

Cook county is now assured a direct connection with the Wolf road paving in Orland Township thru to the Lincoln highway.

A gap of about two and a half miles remains on Wolf road unpaved from the Lincoln highway south to route 51 which is paved on Wolf road from that point to Kankakee. As this gap is not on the county bond issue it will be paved under the gas tax later. When this is done and all the paving on this highway is finished in Cook county, Wolf road will be paved all the way from Kankakee to Wheeling, a distance of over 70 miles, as its founders visioned several years ago and for the realization of this vision many bitter battles have been fought. The paving of this notable and historical road was and is a big task. Wolf Road will serve as a lasting monument to its founders and boosters.

COUNT LUCKNER THE SEA DEVIL

Copyright by Doubleday, Doran & Co.

By LOWELL THOMAS

Count Luckner tells of being ordered to take command of a sailing vessel in 1916 to run the British blockade. The vessel was armed and carried a crew of sixty. It was disguised so that its real nature could not be discovered except by a most complete examination. It was planned that the crew were to be disguised as Norwegians. Luckner could speak Norwegian fluently.

It would have looked suspicious for a naval officer to be directing work of this kind with such infinite pains, so at the ship yards I posed as Herr von Eckmann, inspector of the naval ministry.

An old retired captain of the Ship Inspection service happened to be stopping in the same hotel. His love for his old profession caused him to take a most embarrassing interest in my work. One day, he met a bona-fide ship inspector and asked him whether he knew me.

"Von Eckmann? Let's see, I know everybody in the service. There is no Von Eckmann on the roster."

"Then," blurted out the old captain, "he must be a spy. I always said he had a typically English face. I'll watch him."

Through mistake, two letters came for me without the usual cover address. Both of them gave my full name and rank. I argued with the head waiter, trying to get him to give me the letters for delivery to "my friend, Count Luckner." The old captain happened to be snooping near by, although I didn't know it. By now, anything I did was suspicious. He already had me hung and quartered as his country's arch enemy.

"What did that fellow want?" he inquired of the head waiter.

"He asked me to give him the letters for Lieutenant Commander Count von Luckner."

"Ha!"

I suspected nothing. That evening I took the train for Bremen. A detective entered my compartment and demanded my papers. I gave them to him.

"Count von Luckner," he exclaimed, astonished and embarrassed. "I must have made a mistake. I am looking for a spy from Geestemünde."

I grew worried. Could it be that enemy secret agents were watching the work on my auxiliary cruiser?

"Where was the spy reported?"

"He lives at Beermann's hotel."

That was my hotel. The spy was watching me. I told him that I would take upon myself the responsibility of saying that there were the most urgent reasons why this spy must be caught, and that he must wire his principals that the utmost vigilance must be used.

"We already have the railroad covered at both ends. But we will increase our precautions," he replied. "The spy will surely be caught."

In Bremen at Hillman's hotel I was again stopped by a detective who demanded my papers. Again my papers confounded and bewildered him.

"The description of the spy fits you exactly," he said.

Once more I urged that the headquarters of the secret police be commanded to catch the secret agent at any cost.

At the Trocadero, I sat with a bottle of wine in front of me. A provost officer with two men in uniform came up to me.

"Come with us. You are under arrest."

I flew into a rage at these repetitions of stupidity, as I thought them to be.

"I am a naval officer."

"You are a spy. Come with us!"

The usual spy mania spread throughout the restaurant. Blows were threatened, chairs were brandished, and there were shouts of "Kill the spy, kill him!" on all sides. If the officers hadn't fought the crowd off, I would have been badly beaten.

At headquarters I was shown a description and even a picture of myself. So there was no doubt but what I was their man.

"Under what name does this spy travel?" I demanded.

"Under the name of Marine Inspector von Eckmann."

"Why, I am he."

"But you just said you were Count von Luckner."

I was compelled, with great injunctions of secrecy, to take them into my confidence, and had them telephone the admiralty for confirmation. The prying old captain at Geestemünde soon took himself to other parts—by request!

As I explained, my plan was to slip through the British blockade as a neutral and if possible disguised as some other ship that actually existed. There happened to be a Norwegian vessel that was almost a dead ringer for the Pass of Balmaha. She was scheduled to sail from Copenhagen. I decided that we would take her name, and sail the day before she sailed, so that if the British caught us and wire-tapped to Copenhagen to confirm our story they would receive word that such a craft had left port at the time we claimed. This other ship was named the Maleta. For some time she had been discharging grain from the Argentine. From Denmark she was to proceed to Christiania and there pick up a cargo. Why not a cargo of lumber for Melbourne?

I went to Copenhagen, donned old clothes, and got a job as a dock walloper on the pier where the real Maleta was moored. That enabled me to study her. There was one thing that promised to be difficult to counterfeited. That was the log book. This precious volume contained the life history of the Maleta, when she left the Argentine, what kind of cargo she carried, what course she steered, the wind, the weather, observations of sun and stars, etc., etc. That log book must be in the captain's cabin and I must have it. But a watchman was stationed aft, so how could it be done?

I discovered that the captain and both mates were still in Norway with their families. So it would be some days before the loss of the book would be noticed—if I got it.

So one night, in the uniform of a customs inspector, I stole aboard the Maleta. The watchman, as usual, was sitting near the captain's cabin. The ship was moored to the pier with ropes fore and aft. Stealthily I tiptoed to the bow and cut the ropes, not quite through but almost. A stiff wind was blowing. The ropes cracked and broke. The ship swung around. The watchman ran forward shouting, and at the same moment I ran aft. "Umbling around the captain's cabin I at first failed to locate the log. Finally, I discovered it under the skipper's mattress. Shoving it beneath my belt, I slipped out."

On board now, and also on the pier, half a dozen men were shouting and throwing ropes to haul her back so she wouldn't side-swipe a near-by ship. I joined in the shouting, pretended to help them for a minute, then clambered on to the dock and hurried off in the dark.

We now put on the final touches that were to turn the Pass of Balmaha into the Maleta. We painted her the same color as the Maleta, arranged her deck the same, and decorated the cabins with the same ornaments. In my captain's cabin, I hung pictures of the king and queen of Norway and also of their jovial relative, King Edward VII of England. The barometer, thermometer, and chronometer, and all the other instruments were of Norwegian make. I had a Norwegian library and a Norwegian photograph and records. We had enough provisions from Norwegian firms to last us through the blockade. It would hardly do to have any Bismarck herring, sauerkraut, and pretzels in sight if the British boarded us, would it?

The names of the tailors sewn inside my suits and my officers' suits were replaced with labels from Norwegian tailors. On my underclothing we embroidered the name of the captain of the Maleta—Knudsen.

I had learned in Copenhagen that a donkey engine was being installed on the Maleta. Very well, we got a donkey engine of the same make from Copenhagen and installed it on our ship. The log book of the Maleta was solemnly put in place, and the first entry was made, "Today put in a new donkey engine."

We got up our cargo papers in regular form, signed and sealed by both the Norwegian port authorities and British consul. We also had a letter signed by his majesty's consul at Copenhagen stating that the Maleta was carrying lumber for the use of the government of the Commonwealth of Australia. The letter requested all British ships to help us if any emergency arose. To prove that this document was genuine, it was even stamped with the British Imperial seal (made in Germany!).

I also had a letter which a British officer had supposedly written to my shipowner and which my shipowner had forwarded to me, warning us against German search officers, but advising us to place our trust in the British!

A sailor with the loneliness of the sea upon him nearly always takes with him on his voyages photographs of his people. Now the crews on British warships know sailor ways, so I inquired all about the procedure from captains of neutral ships who had had their ships searched. They told me that the British always inspected the fore'sle to see that everything looked right there. I immediately got together a lot of photographs to pass as those of Norwegian sailors' parents, brothers and sisters, uncles and aunts, sweethearts, wives and mothers-in-law. What did it matter whether the sweethearts were good looking or not? Sailors' sweethearts are not always prize beauties. We sent a man to Norway for the pictures in order to have the names of Norwegian photographers stamped on them.

The British are smart people, by Joe, and they know how to search a ship. They attach special importance to sailors' letters. The sailor eagerly looks forward to the letter he will receive at the next port. He never throws the letters away either, but always keeps a stack of them in his sea chest. Sometimes you will see him reading a letter that his mother sent him eight years before. So we had to get up a whole set of letters for our "Norwegian" sailors, each set totally different from the other.

Of course, the stolen log of the Maleta gave us a lot of useful information about her crew, and our fake letters were made to tally with this information. Women in the admiralty and foreign offices who knew Norwegian wrote them for us. We got old Norwegian stamps and Norwegian postmarks of various ports the letter were supposed to have been sent to. Then we aged the letters in chemicals, tore and smudged some of them.

I picked as my officers men who like myself had spent long years before the mast, who knew Norwegian, and were of the right spirit. First Officer Kling had been a member of the Filchner expedition, in which he had distinguished himself. The officer whom I selected to go aboard captured ships was a former comrade of mine, a fellow of six feet four, whom I met by chance on a dock. In response to my question whether he wanted to accompany me, he asked:

"Is it one of those trips that is likely to send you to heaven?"

"Yes."

"Then I'm with you. My name is Preiss, and you are after prizes. So I'll bring you luck."

My artillery and navigation officer, Lieutenant Kirchels, was a wizard navigator. Engineer Krauss was our motor expert. The boatswain, the carpenter, and the cook, the three mainstays of a voyage in a sailing vessel, I picked with like care. Of the men who were to go with me I only needed twenty-seven with a knowledge of Norwegian. There were just twenty-seven aboard the real Maleta. In selecting my men, I interviewed each candidate personally but gave him no hint of why I wanted him. I tried to read these men's souls in order to discover in them the qualities of courage and endurance that would be needed.

Now we needed a name for our raider. We needed one that she could take for her official name as an auxiliary cruiser after running the blockade. I wanted to call her the Albatross out of gratitude to the albatross that saved me from drowning when I was a lad. But I discovered that there was already a vessel with that name, a mine layer. Then I wanted to call the ship the Sea Devil, the name by which I personally was afterward to be called. My officers favored some name that would suggest the white wings of our sailship. So we compromised on Seadler, or Sea Eagle.

On a pitch-dark November night, the Seadler, with a small emergency crew, raises anchor and sails out of the mouth of the Weser into the North Sea. There, some distance offshore, we drop anchor.

At a remote place along the docks at Wilhelmshaven, men appear one by one. By the light of a dimly burning lantern I gather my crew.

Next morning a scow of lumber lay alongside, and we stacked timber to a height of six feet over all the deck, and fastened it down with wire and chains.

Every man had his role. Every man must now prove his mettle as an actor. Officers and sailors were given the names of officers and sailors aboard the Maleta. They had to get used to their new names. Fritz Meyer was now Ole Johnsen, Miller became Bjornsen, Hans Lehman became Lars Carlsen, and they knew me only as Captain Knudsen. We had long practice drills until the new names slid off our tongues without getting stuck.

Each man also had to learn a lot about his native town that he never knew before! I had already assembled as much information as I could about the towns listed in the stolen log book, and the rest we invented. Each man had to learn the names of the main streets of his town, the principal hotels, taverns, and drug stores, as well as the names of the mayor and other officials. Much of this sort of material had already been woven into the letters we had prepared for the sailors. Each man had to familiarize himself with the set of photographs that had been allotted to him, and the names of them all, the contents of his letters, and fix in his mind a whole new past life, according to the life of a sailor of the real Maleta whose role he was to play.

The Birth of London

No one can say when London began; the beginning is lost in the mists of time. London is first mentioned in a passage in Tacitus, a Roman historian whose uncle, General Agricola, spent most of his active military career in Britain. Tacitus describes the Roman London of A. D. 61 when it was sacked by Queen Boadicea—the British warrior-queen.

It is one of the strangest things in London's history, that she should first appear at the moment when she was sacked by a British queen, and that that queen's statue should now stand in a place of honor under the palace of Westminster, looking down the Thames. It is strange, but it marks that peculiar position of London as the meeting place of the races out of which the English people were made

USEFUL WORK A CHRISTIAN DUTY

LESSON TEXT—Gen. 2:15, Ex. 20:9, John 5:17, John 9:4, Acts 20:33-35, II Thess. 3:10.

GOLDEN TEXT—This we commanded you, that if any would not work, neither should he eat.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Doing Our Work Well.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Doing Our Work Well.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Honest Work Essential to Success.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Gambling Spirit Hurtful to Business and Morals.

I. The First Man Set to Work (Gen. 2:15).

Work was God's primal thought for man. Even in the state of innocence man was to have useful employment. With the coming of sin, new burdens were added.

II. The Time to Work (Ex. 20:9).

"Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work." Six out of seven days should be devoted to work. Idleness on any of the six days is as great a sin before God as working on the seventh day. Let it never be forgotten that the fourth commandment is an ordinance of labor as well as rest; in fact, there can be no rest unless there has been work. The idler and the Sabbath breaker are equally guilty before God.

III. The Working of the Father and the Son (John 5:17).

The God of the Bible is a working God. It is true that God, when His creative work was done, rested; that is, desisted from creative work, but there is other work besides that of creation. There is no such thing as inactivity in the divine kingdom. God is in His ceaseless activity everywhere. To be godlike is to be active.

Jesus had healed an impotent man on the Sabbath day. The Jews sought to kill Him for this good deed, and when He linked Himself with God in this, they more earnestly sought to kill him, because He made Himself equal with God. The special points of equality with God were:

1. Giving life to the dead.

Only God had shown Himself able to raise one from the dead.

2. Judging mankind (John 5:22).

His claim to being the Judge of all mankind was His supreme claim to deity.

IV. Urgency of the Work (John 9:4).

"I must work the works of God while it is day; the night cometh when no man can work."

These words were uttered in connection with the appalling need of the man who was born blind. Delivering lost men and women from their sins is the work of God which must be done. The night is coming when no work can be done. The night therefore for the world is when Jesus is withdrawn from it.

V. Paul an Example of Working (Acts 20:33-35).

Paul did not work to hoard up money, but to support himself while preaching the gospel. A truly great preacher is the one who preaches not only in word but in deed.

VI. The Man Who Will Not Work Should Not Eat (II Thess. 3:10).

Growing out of Paul's teaching concerning the coming of the Lord, a tendency to idleness developed at Thessalonica. They reasoned that if the Lord's coming was so near, work was useless. The true teaching concerning the coming of the Lord is, "Occupy till I come." Earnest attention to present duty is the scriptural attitude toward the second coming of Christ. Those who will not work should not eat. This is the right principle upon which to base all works of charity. It is the efficient cure for pauperism. It exhibits the right economic order and should apply to all classes.

VII. The Object of Work (Eph. 4:28).

This text sets forth the only three ways by which to get money or possessions of any kind.

1. To steal.

Theft was common among the heathen. It is common today, even in civilized countries. Many ways of obtaining money can be designated by theft.

2. To receive as gifts.

3. To work for.

To have possessions which have been stolen is, of course, wrong. To have that which benefactors have given is right, even though it may not bring a blessing. To have that which we have earned is not only honorable, but gives personal satisfaction in that it has come through toil.

Master of the Situation

There is always the unknown quantity, always the equation we cannot solve. It would seem that it is not the will of God that we should in our toil for Him feel ourselves masters of the situation. It must be enough to know that He is Master of it.—P. C. Ainsworth.

God Always Answers

SCREEN-GRID [BATTERY . . . OR] ELECTRO-DYNAMIC

Tune in, sit back and listen—2,500,000 have done it!

No time out for trouble...no lost programs...in the millions of homes that boast Atwater Kent Radio. Atwater Kent owners don't worry about service because they so seldom need it. And they banished costly repair bills the day they decided to treat themselves to the world's leader in radio.

All you want in radio ... without a bit of bother

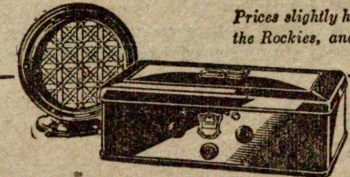

WHY will you find more Atwater Kents on farms than any other set? Why will an Atwater Kent owner tell you that the only set he would swap for it is another Atwater Kent? Because it brings in everything on the air as it ought to sound—with trouble-free operation.

And what a thrill you get every time you tune in, sit back, and listen to the mellow tone of the new Screen-Grid, Electro-Dynamic Atwater Kent Radio—the greatest in Atwater Kent's years of leadership. What a thrill when you sense its giant power, its fabulous reach, its needle-point selectivity.

See it, hear it, the next time you're shopping in town. Designed for central station current or battery operation.

HAS THE LAXATIVE IN YOUR HOME A DOCTOR'S APPROVAL?

Some things people do to help the bowels whenever any bad breath, feverishness, biliousness, or a lack of appetite warn of constipation, really weaken these organs. Only a doctor knows what will cleanse the system without harm. That is why the laxative in your home should have the approval of a family doctor.

The wonderful product, known to millions as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a family doctor's prescription for sluggish bowels. It never varies from the original prescription which Dr. Caldwell wrote thousands of times in many years of practice, and proved safe and reliable for men, women and children. It is made from herbs and other pure ingredients, so it is pleasant-tasting, and can form no habit. You can buy this popular laxative from all drugstores.

Starting Early

The world's youngest "forged check artist" has been captured at Pueblo, Colo., according to police there. The young forger is but seven years old, and according to police signed the name of John Yatsko, to whom a $80 check was made payable, and attempted to cash it.

Old Bank Vault Buried

The first bank vault in Hillsboro N. H., has been laid to rest. Workmen razed the building which housed the town bank two score years ago and rather than go to the trouble of removing the large cumbersome iron and steel strong box it was decided to dig a hole under the building, which is to be replaced, and drop the safe into it. That was done.

BEADWORK FEATURES MODES; NEW MILLINERY FAVORS BERETS

Demonstrating the New Sleeve Treatment.

ELABORATED and whimsical fashioning is being lavished upon sleeves this season. Throughout the entire style program it is very evident that sleeves are being made a chief channel of expression for "ideas."

In the story of sleeves, the plot becomes particularly thrilling in connection with coats, where every silhouette from flowing bell to bulging balloon enters into the mode. To style the coat with intriguing sleeves is indeed one of the chief aims in design this season. In this new sleeve propaganda, especially as it pertains to the autumn and winter wrap, the stylist is aided and abetted by new and luxuriant furs, which embrace every species from pedigreed types to those of obscure origin. However, fur is fur, and its role in the style pageant is a most spectacular one this season.

In planning the new frock and blouse it is well worth one's while to look into the matter of sleeves. From the sleeveless fashions of the past season to the elaborately sleeved modes of the present is indeed a far cry. There's many a new quirk in cuff and wrist treatments which should be taken into consideration, to which add the fact that any amount of ornate handwork is being lavished on sleeves.

The stylizing capabilities of the sleeve is convincingly demonstrated in the picture above. In this instance, the gown is of black transparent velvet, rules to observe, one of which is that the brim or lack of brim should be brow-revealing. This is arrived at in two ways, either the shape is so manipulated, or else the hat is designed to be worn far back on the head, or both. This applies particularly to the new baby-bonnet types which are creating such a sensation because of their decided departure from anything this generation has encountered in the way of fashionable headgear. To successfully wear one of the chic baby-bonnet effects, such as is shown to the left below in this group, one must be youthful. In creating these extreme types, designers resort to all sorts of artful fabric manipulation.

The hats selected for illustration herewith stand as "types" for matter of classification of three distinct trends, namely, the off-the-face brims, the beret and the baby-bonnet effects, each of which are outstanding in the new modes.

These types are interpreted in multitudinous ways, which involve the sleeves richly embroidered and beaded in white. This sleeve treatment suggests an extremely important phase of the mode, namely, the flair for white effects done on black in a "different" way—especially white beadwork.

Both daytime and evening modes stress black velvet worked with white beads. In the matter of an afternoon black velvet frock, even the simplest design of white beads worked about the neckline, adds a compelling note of chic. With such a frock a white boutonniere further obeys the dictates of the mode. As a matter of fact, all the accessories are expected to follow a black and white course. Such as, for instance, the gloves, which should be of black kid worked with white, the purse also, which takes up the cue and expresses itself in terms of smart black and white.

This is an epoch-making season in the realm of millinery. Seems as if the whole scheme of things is being revolutionized. Not only are crowns and brims "different," but ways of wearing have changed. One thing is certain, there is a hat or hats for every individuality. It is merely a matter of knowing your type and finding it.

Of course there are a few general

VEGETABLE FRITTERS

Use the same batter for vegetables as for fruit, with a little pepper added.

Celery-Root Fritters.—Boil until tender three bunches of celery root; pare off the outside, dip into fritter batter and cook in hot fat. Serve with cheese to which chopped green pepper and a bit of red has been added.

Corn Fritters.—For six or eight ears of corn or a can of canned corn take two eggs, one-half cupful of milk, and as much flour as will make a good batter. Add a tablespoonful of olive oil, salt and pepper and let stand for two hours, then add the corn. Drop by spoonfuls into hot fat. Serve garnished with parsley or as a sweet, serve with maple syrup.

Parsnip Fritters.—Cook parsnips until tender, mash and season well and let stand to cool. Take up a spoonful, drop into the fritter batter and fry in deep fat. Serve with a maple sauce.

Carrot Fritters.—Cook small young carrots until tender in boiling salted water. Drain, dip in fritter batter and fry brown. Serve garnished with the fresh carrot tops or with parsley. Serve with white sauce.

Potato Fritters.—Add to a cupful of mashed potato two beaten eggs, two tablespoonfuls of grated cheese, three tablespoonfuls of flour, a pinch of salt and a dash of paprika. Beat well and let stand for an hour. Drop by small spoonfuls into hot fat and fry brown.

Spicy Rice Fritters.—Mold boiled rice, sweetened and flavored with nutmeg, in a shallow pan. When cold cut into slices, dredge with flour and fry until brown on both sides in butter. As soon as one side is brown sprinkle it with cinnamon, allowing the heat to send the flavor into the rice. Serve with a mound of spicy grape or apple jelly on each.

Fritters of pears, peaches, or any other fruit may be prepared and served with or without sauces. They make fine entrees.

For a quick hot soup to serve in an emergency, try a can of pea soup and a can of condensed milk, heat and serve with croutons or crackers.

Rabbit Dishes.

As rabbit is such wholesome food and in many parts of the country so plentiful, the housewife should endeavor to serve it freely and in a variety of ways.

Rabbit With Vegetables.—Cut up and stew one rabbit in plenty of water until fairly tender. If inclined to be at all tough, add a tablespoonful of vinegar to the water, with salt to season. Fry one onion cut into bits, add one cupful each of cooked carrots, turnips and potatoes; there should be three cupfuls of broth; simmer until all are well done, adding more salt as needed and thicken with three tablespoonfuls of fat and five of flour which have been cooked together. Simmer until smooth and serve with vegetables poured around the rabbit.

Rabbit a la King.—Take one stewed rabbit, one-half green pepper, one small onion, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of salt, three tablespoonfuls of flour, three tablespoonfuls of fat, three cupfuls of broth and one-half cupful of mushrooms. Remove the meat from the rabbit, cut into small pieces. Melt the fat, add the flour, salt and pepper to taste. Add the green pepper and onion and simmer one hour in the stock. Thicken with the flour and fat, cook five minutes, then add the mushrooms. Serve very hot in patty shells or on toast.

Fried Rabbit.—Take two or three small rabbits, dress and cut up for serving. Roll each portion in fine bread crumbs, then in egg beaten with two tablespoonfuls of cold water. Melt four tablespoonfuls of fat and cook the rabbits until well browned. Add one-fourth cupful of flour, pepper and salt to taste, one and one-half cupfuls of rich milk, cook until smooth and thick in the pan in which the rabbit was fried. Serve with rabbit.

Fricassee of Rabbit.—Cut up two rabbits, soak one-half hour in salt water, then wipe dry. Dredge with flour. Fry a thick slice of salt pork, add the rabbit, turning until well browned, then place in a casserole. Season with salt, add more flour to slightly thicken the broth, season with a tablespoonful of meat sauce, cover and cook for two hours. Serve with Steamed Dumplings.—Take one cupful each of corn meal and flour, five teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of fat and three-fourths of a cupful of milk. Mix the flour and fat, scald the corn meal with boiling water and let stand for ten minutes. Mix all together and roll out, cut into small biscuits. Place close together in a steamer, cover closely and steam over the rabbit broth 15 minutes.

"Makes More Bread Than Any Flour I Ever Used"

Mrs. G. H. Blodgett
R. R. No. 1, Waverly, Minn.

"My neighbor who bakes 28 to 30 loaves of bread a week came over one day in tears. She said her bread turned out like lead and almost black. I told her it served her right because she did not use Gold Medal Flour that's 'Kitchen-tested'. She got a sack of Gold Medal and she said, 'Why, that flour is just like cake flour'. I told her there's never a failure with Gold Medal—besides it makes more bread than any kind of flour I ever used."

It's Easy Now For Women To Have Baking Success

NO longer need they worry about perfect results. Now, they can be sure of success every time with pies and cakes, bread and biscuits. They use a new-type flour for all baking purposes—

"Never a Failure With Gold Medal 'Kitchen-tested' Flour. The Only Flour For My Family" Says Mrs. Blodgett

GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Flour—that simplifies baking remarkably and banishes the cause of most baking failures.

Failures, experts found, were mostly due to the fact that 2 sacks of the same flour often acted differently, even with the same recipe... it was not uniform in oven action.

So now all GOLD MEDAL Flour is "Kitchen-tested" before it comes to you. As each batch comes through the mill it is tested by actual baking—bread, cakes, biscuits, pastries—in an oven just like yours. Only flour which acts the same perfect way every time is allowed to go out to you. Thus you know in advance exactly what your results will be.

Three Units Unite to Prevent Forest Fires

One cent an acre is being spent this year to protect the forests of the United States against the peril of devastating fires. Uncle Sam's share of this is one-third of a cent.

This small sum, used to guard one of the greatest, though dwindling, natural resources of the country, is divided three ways, with the federal government, the state and private individuals sharing the burden.

Under the Clarke-McNary law of 1924 the forest service co-operates in the work with the states on a basis whereby the states must at least equal the federal appropriation. For the fiscal year 1929 the federal treasury is providing $1,400,000, an increase of $200,000 over the previous fiscal year. The states and private interest, between them, are making up the difference.

Working with the forest service are experts of 38 states.

New Type of Submarine

Carries Battle Plane

Only tomorrow knows what horrors the "next war" will bring. Hardly a week passes without announcement of some new device or combination of devices for the destruction of human beings and property, says the Pathfinder Magazine.

The latest important announcement of this kind comes from London. The British have developed a submarine from which a battle airplane can be launched within a few minutes after it comes to the surface. The large turret usually used for the accommodation of a powerful gun has been converted into a plane carrier. Such a combination of undersea and airplane craft was first designed by an Italian. France took it up and now Britain claims to have improved it to perfection.

Big Paintings Puzzle Heirs

What to do with the collection of huge paintings of the late Tivadar Csontvary, the Hungarian artist, has been puzzling his heirs. Each picture is as large as the front of a good-sized house. A plan was tried of selling them by the yard, but so formidable was even the task of unrolling them that when an attempt to photograph them was made the fire department was called in to help spread them out in the great courtyard of the city hall. This plan of disposing of them did not succeed, so a relative has bought the lot and is storing them in his garage for the present.

Things We Don't See

So many of us go through the day and hardly notice the sparkle of sunlight on a lake or goblet, the majestic angles cast by a skyscraper or a picket fence, the grace of a catweb swaying in the breeze, of a dandelion turned white and fluffy, of a gray road winding over a hill.—Woman's Home Companion.

President Hoover To Attend Light's Golden Jubilee Celebration

The celebration of Light's Golden Jubilee, the nation's tribute to Thomas A. Edison on the fiftieth anniversary of his invention of the incandescent lamp, culminates on Monday evening, October 21, at a banquet to be held at Dearborn, Michigan, on the occasion of the dedication of the Edison School of Technology which has been endowed by Henry Ford.

President Hoover will attend the banquet and will be among the speakers taking part in the giant radio program under the direction of Graham McNamee, well-known radio announcer. Arrangements are being completed for an international radio hookup which will bring the voices of several European statesmen into American homes in tribute to Mr. Edison's achievements.

For the banquet guests—and by word-picture for probably history's largest radio audience—Mr. Edison will remake his original incandescent lamp. The old wooden laboratory in which the early experiments were made has been moved to Dearborn, and by the light of an oil lamp under conditions as nearly similar to those of 1879 as it is possible to make them, Mr. Edison will start the old generator and presently bring a glow to the small incandescent lamp before him—repeating the procedure of 50 years ago.

MOKENA M. E. CHURCH
Rev. Harold Sandall, Pastor
Church School 10:30 a. m.
Evening Worship 7:00 p. m.

The two classes of intermediate girls taught by Misses Schmidt and Benson are having a Halloween party at Mrs. Warning's home Saturday evening.

Clyde Knudson's class of boys is going on a hike Saturday afternoon leaving the church about five o'clock.

The young people's class is invited to Ethel Sorenson's home Sunday afternoon.

The "Go to Church" habit seems to be beginning to assert itself. Sunday evening we listened to a very helpful message by Rev. Willie F. Heubner of Garrett.

The noted psychologist, William James, gave three rules governing habit formation, as follows:

1. "Form as many useful and good habits as possible early in life."

2. Launch with a strong determination.

3. Never permit an exception until the habit is firmly established."

Wm. Neithammer who has been a resident of Mokena for many years and who recently broke up house-keeping, has gone to St. Louis to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Charles Schneider.

Barney Hostert has been confined to his home with a bad cold, but is able to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Semmler and family and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Deadmore of Joliet motored to Chicago Sunday where they visited with relatives.

Fred Brown has vacated the Moriarity building and has moved into the Fisher building.

Ed. Werner and family who have been living in the Mary B. Moriarity house have moved into the Wannenmacher dwelling on South street.

F. A. Tooley has purchased a new automobile.

Elmer Schoeneck has rented the Howard Bagley house.

Wm. Semmler, Charles Hirsch, Ona McGovney and Elmer L. Cooper attended a banquet and meeting of the Southwest Towns Chamber of Commerce held at Oak Hills Golf Club club house in Palos Town ship Tuesday night.

Misses Dorothy and Jeanette Wallace entertained the R. H. G. Club of Joliet in their home Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Balaz have been entertaining the latter's brother and son of Chicago the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Schoeneck and daughter, Marna Jean. Miss Ariel Reiber of Tinley Park, Mr. Matt Cherop of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schoeneck, Mr. Walter Schoeneck, Dr. and Mrs. E. G. McMahon and Miss Mabel Schoeneck were entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Warning at a chicken dinner, Friday evening.

Leon Errol Returns In "Fioretta"

Earl Carroll, the well known producer, famous for his presentations of the "Earl Carroll Vanities", surpasses himself with the newest and greatest production of his theatrical career, "Fioretta", a romantic Venetian musical comedy, starring Leon Errol, with music and lyrics by George Bagby and G. Romilli, book by Charlton Andrews, now playing at the Erlanger Theatre, Chicago.

In presenting "Fioretta", Earl Carroll has called for the services of the best known people of all departments of the theatre. His cast is without a doubt one of the greatest ever assembled for a musical comedy. Besides the star Leon Errol, also prominent in the cast are Josephine Harmon, Evangeline Raleigh, Gean Greenwell, Monart Kippen, G. Davidson Clark, Charles Howard, Giovanni Guerrieri and Frances Gabrielle.

The locale of "Fioretta" is Venice with its beautiful buildings, the canals, the carnivals and the gaiety of the eighteenth century which gives Mr. Carroll many opportunities for novel and gorgeous scenic effects, surpassing even his spectacles in former editions of the "Vanities". The costumes will be exact duplicates of that period, some of them being designed from originals worn by the royalty of that period. To make certain that "Fioretta" will be a well dressed show three of the greatest theatrical costumers have designed the costumes. They are Charles Le Maire, Mabel T. Johnston and Wm. H. Matthews.

The chorus girls will be the highest paid chorus in the history of show business. The minimum salary is seventy-five dollars weekly and run up the scale to the sum of three hundred and fifty weekly. There are ten girls receiving this amount. They are known as "The Prize Winning Beauty Chorus" and employed in a gorgeous scene in which a beauty contest takes place, the feature of many Venetian carnivals of the eighteenth Century.

"Fioretta" is in two acts, ten scenes in each act and takes for its locale many spots in Venice which are noted both for their historic reference and beauty. LeRoy Prinz staged the dances. This is his first Broadway production. He was discovered by Mr. Carroll in Chicago where he was quite the sensation. The sets are designed by Clark Robinson who designs the sets for the Roxy Theatre and did the now famous Music Box Revues.

"Fioretta", all in all, is not only the greatest production of Earl Carroll's career but also one of the most elaborate and expensive extravaganzas ever fashioned for the musical comedy stage, costing over a half-million dollars to produce.

There are 125 people in the cast and a symphony orchestra.

Glorious Contemplation

An English parliamentary candidate wound up a frenzied oration as follows: "Gentlemen, the glorious victory which will swamp our opponents when the eve of the election dawns upon us will re-echo in words of gold through the corridors of time, until the last grand trump shall sound through the valleys on the mountains."

Baptism by Sprinkling

The rite of baptism by sprinkling or pouring is supposed to have originated either in the Second or Third century and is alluded to in the writings of Cyprian, who gave his opinion that in the case of those who were sick or unable to endure the rite of immersion it was a lawful baptism.

NEW KNIFE POPULAR AS NEW MONEY

The cave man was content to use his fingers in conveying food to his mouth. His teeth could tear a rhinoceros steak as easily as a dull knife can cut into a piece of cheese. Spoons he needed not, and as far as forks were concerned, even if he had them, he would not know how to make use of such implements. Who invented the knife and fork no one knows. Indications, however, point to the woman. It is believed that having finer sensibilities than the man, she conceived of a crude affair which was the grandfather of the present spoons, knives and forks. Why knives were made with long blades and short handles no one knows, altho it is suggested that the knife primarily was first used as a weapon. When not used as a weapon against enemies of our forefathers, it could be used to carve the beasts that were slain for their flesh. No improvements in the common variety of table cutlery were made, because of the idea that what was good for grandfather must be good for grandson. The International Silver Company, believing that knives could be improved by lengthening the handle and shortening the blade, finally evolved from many experiments the "Viande Knife" that is shown here. Soon the knife with which we are all familiar will be as scarce as the old money of our Uncle Sam, which is being rapidly replaced with the new short bills to which we have all been introduced. The young lady in the photograph holds the Viande Knife in her right hand, while in her left hand is shown the old style knife. A close-up of the new knife is seen at the right. (Herbert Photos, N. Y.)

"Who took the lamp out of this socket?"

It certainly is annoying to find, when you wish to turn on a light, that someone has left the socket empty. How often that happens, even in pretentious homes!

If a lamp burns out in the kitchen or the pantry there is likely to be a violent protest from Father when he gets ready to use the portable lamp in his favorite corner of the living room.

The pity of it is that the practice of taking lamps from one fixture to supply another continues to bring gloom into homes where happiness might so easily prevail.

You can always have spare lamps in the house, ready for use when they are needed.

The cartons in which Mazda Lamps are packed prevent breakage and are a great convenience. With a carton of lamps on the shelf it isn't necessary to rob a socket in the living room, the hall, or a bedroom when light is needed somewhere else.

You are going to need those extra lamps sometime. Why not buy them in the convenient carton, and avoid trouble?

Forgetting to turn off the light

People often permit their pleasures to be spoiled by trivial things.

Remembering suddenly that she has left an electric lamp burning in her bedroom causes Mrs. B to lose all interest in the bridge party.

And what is that light, shining merrily for three hours and a half, going to cost her? Take a long breath and be prepared for the worst. Nearly two cents! Yes, indeed. Half a cent an hour—you can figure it out for yourself.

Why try to get along with less light than is needed for the protection of your eyes and health?

Robbing lamp sockets is expensive and exasperating

Some things to remember about home lighting

Lewis H. Carris, managing director of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, referring to the need of good light in the home, says:

"If you are not able to read easily with the printed page twelve to fifteen inches from the eye, there is something wrong either with the light or with your sight.

"Remember that sight is the most valuable of all our senses and that once lost it never can be regained at any price."

Will Hold Public Health Conclave Joliet Next Week

Discussion of problems of interest to the physicians, nurses, health workers and the public in general will occupy the center of the stage during the twentieth annual meeting of the Illinois Tuberculosis and Public Health Association in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce in Joliet on October 28 and 29. It is expected that representatives of the medical and health profession in practically every county in Illinois will be in attendance during the two day conclave.

A program of particular interest to physicians will be held on Tuesday, October 29. This part of the program is under the direction of Drs. E. S. Murphy of Dixon, Marion K. Bowles of Joliet and Eva Wilson of Manhattan, of the program committee. Efforts are being made to have leading specialists in tuberculosis from medical schools and hospitals in the east talk on subjects relating to the professional practice of the average physician. Among the possible speakers in this part of the program are Dr. Allen K. Krause of John Hopkins University. Dr. Krause is also editor of the American Review of Tuberculosis. It is also hoped that one of the staff physicians from the Trudeau School of Tuberculosis in Saranac Lake will be present and an effort has been made to obtain Dr. George Crile of Cleveland. Several physicians in Illinois will also take part in the program.

On Monday, October 28 the morning session will be devoted to routine business and reports of various sections of the state. On Monday noon the public health nurses of the state will convene for lunch at which time talks will be given on the relation of the public health nurse to the health of the school child, to the work of a county sanatorium, and to the medical profession. There will also be a discussion of the place of the public health nurse as an executive secretary in the tuberculosis organizations. Speakers in this part of the program will include health and school workers from several counties in Illinois as well as physicians. Miss Mabel McClenahan, R. N., president of the Will County Nurses Association will preside at one of these sessions. On Tuesday evening a banquet will be held at which it is hoped representatives from the State Department of Health and the State Medical Society will discuss with officials of the Tuberculosis Association the relationships between the three organizations.

All sessions will be open to the public, with the exception of the Nurses' Luncheon and the banquet. Meetings will be free.

Tickets to these two parts of the program may be obtained in advance from the registration desk at the time of the meeting.

FRANKFORT

The Ladies of the Frankfort M. E. church will hold their annual bazaar and supper in the church basement, Friday afternoon and evening, October 18.

Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Clark and son Jack spent Sunday in the home of the formers parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clark.

Mrs. Henry Woltje has rented her house to Otto Lembke. Mrs. Lembke will make her home with her son William in Joliet.

Dr. W. V. Hedges spent Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday attending the Surgeons meet, held in the Stevens Hotel in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Schoop entertained at dinner in their home Sunday.

A delegation of thirteen ladies of the Frankfort Home Improvement club attended the meeting of the Will County clubs held at Elwood last Tuesday.

Ervin Knight of Plainfield, Ill., spent the week end with his parents Mr. and Mrs. John Knight, while he attended the teachers Institute held in Joliet Thursday and Friday.

Harry Balchovsky had a carload of potatoes on track Tuesday. They were soon disposed of as orders had been previously taken.

Long and Costly Work

More than 300,000 miles of spirit-level lines have been run in the United States to discover the exact elevation of ground above sea level.

The Town Doctor

(THE DOCTOR OF TOWNS)

TO THE MERCHANTS OF THE SURROUNDING TOWNS.

Say to yourself, "Why do people buy elsewhere"? Ask yourself, Why should the people of MY TOWN buy from me what I have to sell, in preference to my competitor?

Answer both of these questions - they must be answered not only to yourself, but to your customers if you are going to continue in business and keep out of the red.

Business GOES to the place where it is INVITED - you can't expect business if you don't ask for it.

Business STAYS at the place where it is well treated, backed up with an INVITATION to continue the pleasure of such treatment. Then, if those extending the invitation sell and serve as today's buyers LIKE to be sold and served, they will continue to accept the repeated invitation. You would do it yourself under similar circumstances.

Still, the average man and woman, by far the majority of the people in your town, would rather do business with you, and they WILL do business with you IF you will profit by the experience of others. That is not idle talk, but a fact based on human nature, backed up by actual proof obtained from the people themselves in every section of the country. But, you must have a "reason why" and that reason must be kept before all of the people ALL of the time.

In practically every community we hear: "Outside advertising is en-ting our people" - "Competition of combines is taking our business". Maybe this is true, but what are YOU doing to counteract it?

As an excuse and alibi for lack of business, thousands of merchants say, "People don't buy like they used to". That is absolutely true - people don't buy as they used to.

But how about you - do you still sell "like you used to"? Why should people stick to the old, humdrum, weekly "tradin'" when shopping and buying are now made such a pleasure? Why go to a funeral when a festival is on?

If other stores INVITE the people and give them a REASON WHY they should buy from them, of course your customers are going to.

A few years ago the people of the surrounding towns HAD to buy from you, or go without. As you know only too well, that is not now the case. Good roads and motor cars, magazines, metropolitan papers and radios, plus free mail delivery, has changed all that.

Today people can get anything they need or want, from whom and whence they please - not only CAN, but DO. They CAN get it from you, but whether they do or not depends on you.

Business COMES BACK to the place where it is served best and where the INVITATION to profit from such service is kept constantly in the forefront.

Your newspaper is your ally - use it.

THE SMALLEST HORSE IN THE WORLD

This, the smallest horse in the world, standing but 17 inches high and weighing only 11 pounds, is the proud possession of Mrs. J. C. Lucadema of 247 Satterwaite Avenue, Nutley, New Jersey. The product of fine Belgian horse stock, the dwarf will be drilled for circus or other exhibition work, according to Mrs. Lucadema's present plans. What a heap of fun our kiddies would have if they could have one of these horses in their homes! (Herbert Photos).

Pure Milk

Assco. Activities

Eighteen thousand dairy farmers, who supply Chicago with 3,500,000 lbs. of milk daily will sit down at 139 banquets reaching over three states. The Pure Milk Association with a membership in Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana are sponsoring this unique party and will direct the program by radio over station W-L-S., Monday night, October 21.

Charlie Stookey whose voice is well known to thousands of farmer folk throughout the central west will do the announcing. Each of the 139 groups have been supplied with song sheets and will sing at the command of the director in Chicago. The program will include vocal, instrumental as well as band selections, continuing thru the hour from 8:30 to 9:30.

Mr. W. F. Schilling, member Federal Farm Board, representing the dairy interests, will come on from Washington to speak to the unseen audience assembled. Other speakers will be Mr. W. C. McQueen, president of the Pure Milk Association and Mr. Don Geyer the general manager of the co-operative.

Reports of the preparations made by local groups indicate that this will be the largest Radio Party ever staged by any farm group. Clinton, Wisconsin have arranged for 450; Aurora, Illinois, will have about 600; Manteno, Illinois, plan to seat 175; Valparaiso, Indiana, will have seven groups ranging from 75 to 150 each; Akron, Indiana, as well as Servia, Indiana, are counting on no less than 300 each; Waukegan, Illinois, will have 185 and Prairie View 93; Freeport will have at least 250. Other locals not heard from will listen in as well as the 100,000 farmers outside the shed.

The party will be a direct contradiction to the old saw that farmers will not stick as it will demonstrate that 18,000 farmers can think and act alike just as do other large social groups. Leadership was lacking but thru the Pure Milk Association the dairy farmer is rapidly learning that only thru concerted action can he hope to be successful in marketing his product on a paying bases.

Makes Life Sweeter

Children's stomachs sour, and need an anti-acid. Keep their systems sweet with Phillips Milk of Magnesia! When tongue or breath tells of acid condition—correct it with a spoonful of Phillips. Most men and women have been comforted by this universal sweetener—more mothers should invoke its aid for their children. It is a pleasant thing to take, yet neutralizes more acid than the harsher things too often employed for the purpose. No household should be without it.

Phillips is the genuine, prescriptive product physicians endorse for general use; the name is important. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. registered trade mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

In a radio address delivered over Station WMAQ, Chicago, Gov. Louis L. Emmerson made a plea for a closer study of their government by the citizens of Illinois. "The backbone of progress is intelligent public opinion and the greatest check against corruption comes from an enlightened people," the governor declared. "I wish that every one of our citizens might understand all the problems of the three branches of government—executive, legislative and judicial."

The Illinois Conference on Public Welfare will be held in Evanston, October 30-31. Eight courses of study are offered during the two days preceding the conference, October 28 and 29, to social workers and those directly concerned with social work, to more intensively consider problems than is possible in the regular meetings of the conference. Rodney H. Brandon, director of public welfare of the state of Illinois, will address the opening session on "Public Welfare in Illinois." Many other noted speakers, nationally known specialists in their line, are listed on the program, which covers practically every phase of social welfare work.

The condition of Director Henry H. Kohn of the state department of purchases and construction continues to show improvement. Mr. Kohn underwent an operation at St. John's hospital, Springfield, and for a time his condition was considered critical. Mr. Kohn occupied the position in the state cabinet he is now holding under Governors Lowden and Small. He served for four years under Governor Lowden and for two years under Governor Small, resigning at the end of that period because of ill health.

State Fire Marshal S. L. Legreid addressed the Springfield Lions club as a feature of the observance of Fire Prevention week. Mr. Legreid said that the Mississippi flood control project, estimated to cost $325,000,000, and the Lakes to the Gulf waterway, estimated to cost $327,000,000, are excellent in cost by the fire losses of 1927 and the first four months of 1928.

Seventy-five petitions for pardon or commutation of sentence awaited the attention of the new state pardon board when it held its first public hearings in the state house recently. The board, of which W. C. Jones, Streator, is chairman, was called upon to consider conditional pardons for 10 alien convicts, who are then to be deported in keeping with the new policy of ridding Illinois of unnaturalized felons. Under present laws an immigrant may be deported upon one conviction of a crime involving moral turpitude within five years after his arrival in this country, or, if he came to this country after 1917, upon the second conviction of a crime.

Employees in the office of Secretary of State William J. Stratton recently presented Chief Clerk A. C. Mills with a beautiful radio set. The occasion was the "Colonel's" birthday. Secretary Stratton made the presentation speech.

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson has announced the personnel of the Illinois welfare commission, which was created four years ago to study welfare conditions in the state, as follows: W. G. Walling, Chicago, chairman; Rev. Frederick Seidenburg, Chicago; Judge Perry L. Persons, Waukegan; Miss Mary Humphrey, Springfield, and Harry Laurie, Chicago.

The Abraham Lincoln Memorial Highway Association, Inc., of which Charles M. Connor of Toledo is president, recently made a tour of the Lincoln shrines in Central Illinois. Senator Guy L. Smith, Pana, and Representative Roy A. Corzine, Stonington, were members of the party, which assembled at Palestine. The association is working for the routing of the new Lincoln highway from a point near Farmington, Coles county, which was known as the last homestead of Thomas Lincoln, in a southeasterly direction to a point known as Westport on the Wabash river, opposite Vincennes, Ind.

Secretary of State William J. Stratton has issued a charter to the Soy Bean Marketing association with offices at Champaign. The object of the organization is to dispose of soy bean crops under the co-operative marketing act. The organization has capital of 4,000 shares at $50 a share, 40,000 class B preferred stock of no par value and 20,000 common stock of no par value. The board of directors is composed of 16 members.

Charles W. Vall, clerk of the Supreme court, is installing in his office a card system of the roll of attorneys. Prior to 1897, at which time the three grand divisions were consolidated, the roll of attorneys was carried in book form, as provided by the clerk of each division. Heretofore search for a name on the roll has necessitated an investigation of the several books, whereas under the present arrangement the name of the attorney, date of admission and other data in connection therewith will be readily accessible.

Miss Eugenia Freeman, Urbana, won first prize in the cup contest in connection with the golden jubilee convention of the Building Association League of Illinois, which was held in Springfield. Nine contestants, all of high school age, from various sections of the state, competed for three cups in the contest, with five-minute addresses on subjects dealing with thrift, saving and home ownership. Miss Freeman, as first prize winner, will have an opportunity to compete in the national cup contest next year at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Morris Emmerson, brother of Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, was recently married at his home in Mt. Vernon to Mrs. Olive M. Smith of Los Angeles, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. Emmerson left at once for Kansas City, Salt Lake City and San Francisco, where they will visit before going to Los Angeles. They will make their home at the Rosslyn hotel, Los Angeles, after November 1.

Sheriffs of Illinois must enforce the provisions of an act in regard to aviation, passed by the last general assembly and approved by Governor Emmerson, according to a ruling by Attorney General Carlstrom. Meant at first merely to place all pilots under the jurisdiction of the United States Department of Commerce by requiring a pilot's license, various provisions as to height of flying, stunting, carrying passengers, etc., were added to the bill by amendments. It had been called to the governor's attention that no provision for enforcement was made in the act; and Attorney General Carlstrom said that all acts must be enforced by the state's attorneys and sheriffs where no special provision is made.

Illinois' long-drawn out contest to retain $6,392,000 collected under the illegal gasoline tax law of 1927, may be decided by the State Supreme court at the end of the October term. If rulings of the lower court are sustained the money will be retained and a portion of it distributed to each of the 102 counties for road building and grade separation.

Dr. George S. Edmonson of Clinton became managing officer of the Kankakee state hospital October 15, by appointment of Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, succeeding Dr. W. A. Stoker, resigned.

James H. Kirby of Petersburg, former state representative, has issued a pamphlet announcing his candidacy for the United States senate on the Democratic ticket.

One of the really great libraries of the world is on the campus of the University of Illinois for the year-round use of 14,000 students and 1,400 faculty members. In 61 years the library has increased from 644 books to 761,187 volumes and many thousands of pamphlets, maps and sheet music. This great mass of literature covers practically every known field of human endeavor.

The resignations of Milton Well of Chicago and John L. Whiteside of Marion as commerce commissioners have been accepted by Governor Emmerson. Representative William E. King, Chicago, has been named chairman of the commission on popular finance and wage loans.

The old Postville courthouse, purchased and removed by Henry Ford, will be in the talkie-movies. A soundness recording unit, traveling by truck, paused at the historic old building during the process of dismantling, long enough to record the scene. Mrs. T. T. Beach, owner of the building for many years, spoke into a microphone, and local civic leaders were "shot" and their voices recorded.

The law providing that the state pay tuition for inmates of orphan homes who attend school in the district in which the home is located also applies to high school students. Atty. Gen. Oscar E. Carlstrom has informed Governor Emmerson. "The legislature," Mr. Carlstrom said, "evidently intended to relieve the burden placed upon taxpayers of the school district in which the home is located. Since inmates come from various parts of the state, it is but just that the taxpayers in general should relieve the burden upon the taxpayers in the district in which the home is located."

John McAdams, former member of the Illinois house of representatives and at one time a state senator, died at his home in Quincy. He was the husband of Mary Cowan McAdams, present member of the house and the first Democratic woman to be elected to the legislature.

Frank T. Sheets, chief highway engineer of Illinois, has returned to Springfield from the Pan-American road conference, to which he was appointed a delegate by President Hoover.

"Parks and Memorials of the State of Illinois" is the title of an attractively illustrated booklet issued by the state department of public works and buildings of which Harry H. Cleveland, Rock Island, is director. It contains a record of all state-owned parks and views from the various historic spots. The Illinois plan, the booklet says, is the improvement and reclamation of every important spot in the state that is hallowed by historic memories. Dr. C. M. Service compiled the material for the booklet.

Restless Children

Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

Hitting on All Eight!

Doctor Gives Hint to Lucky Salesman

IT'S a wise man that knows when he is slipping. Mr. R.F. Myers of 711 Rosedale Street, Baltimore, had the good fortune to get his tip straight from one of his doctor customers (he was selling for a pharmaceutical house) and since that lucky visit he has increased his business 50 per cent.

For two years he had been driving from town to town, and naturally this threw his elimination out of shape. He felt himself slipping. Cathartics only made him worse. Then one day he was calling on a wise old physician, and asked his advice. "What you need, my boy," said the doctor, "is a simple, easy, normal way to clean the poisons out of your system—we all have them—and with your kind of work they certainly cut down efficiency. Why don't you try Nujol?"

"Well, believe it or not," says Mr. Myers, "in a few days I felt like a new man. 'What's got into you?'" asked the home office, "your business has increased 50 per cent!"

That's the great thing about Nujol. As soon as it begins to clean the poisons out of your system it makes you feel so well that you can almost always do a much better job. Nujol is not a medicine and contains no drugs. It is perfectly harmless, forms no habit. It is simply bodily lubrication, which everybody needs. You, like everybody else!

Why put off good health any longer? Go into any good drug store and get a bottle of Nujol in a sealed package. Costs so little and means so much! Maybe you can increase your efficiency 50 per cent too Unnecessary Pain!

Nowadays, people take Bayer Aspirin for many little aches and pains, and as often as they encounter any pain.

Why not? It is a proven antidote for pain. It works!

And Bayer Aspirin tablets are utterly harmless. You have the medical profession's word for that; they do not depress the heart.

So, don't let a cold "run its course." Don't wait for a headache to "wear off." Or regard neuralgia, neuritis, or even rheumatism as something you must endure. Only a physician can cope with the cause of such pain, but you can always turn to Bayer Aspirin for relief.

Bayer Aspirin is always available, and it always helps. Familiarize yourself with its many uses, and avoid a lot of needless suffering.

Tax Commission Raps Tax Evils

politicians fought the order and delayed the assessment at least six months. Such dilatory tactics have delayed the reassessment and greatly retarded the mailing out of tax bills. It is natural that a major operation of this kind should cause some pain and inconvenience to the patient but today the property owners of Cook county have been given an honest and equitable assessment. A staff of non-political trained appraisers has done the work. This was a bitter pill to swallow for local politicians who had taken care of their friends for years and profited themselves by so doing.

"The reassessment has the backing of all newspapers in Chicago and most of those in the outlying sections of the county. It is backed and endorsed by the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Chicago and Cook county Real Estate Boards, the University of Chicago, Northwestern University, the Joint Commission of Real Estate Valuations appointed by the Cook county commissioner, and numerous other civic organizations.

"My attention has been called to a statement by one John Doolin, assessor of Lemont township who attacked the assessment for reasons of his own which he perhaps did not care to disclose. This assessor by assuming this attitude says that the newspapers of Chicago, the civic and business men citizens who have endorsed the new order are all wrong. This assessor says in effect that only he is wise, clean, scrupulous and just, that all those who have supported the scientific reassessment of real estate in Cook county are fraudulent, ignorant, cowardly and subservient. Take your choice as to which side you wish to be on.

"The scientific reassessment of real estate in Cook county has attracted world-wide attention. In the current issue of the Chicago Teachers' Federation Bulletin appears this quotation from a pamphlet issued by the International Union for Land Value Taxation and Free Trade, London, England:

"Two years ago Cook county, Ill. had as unequal and unfair a method of assessing real estate for taxation purposes as can possibly be imagined. Today, however, Cook County, Illinois, has practically completed the installation of as uniform and scientific system of assessing real estate as can be found anywhere on the face of the earth—a system that will be a model to the whole world."

"This quotation which appeared in a pamphlet entitled 'Revaluation of Real Estate in Chicago and Cook County' was read to representatives of twenty-three nations gathered at the conference held in Edinburgh, July 29 to August 4, 1929.

"Taxpayers of this vicinity and other towns and villages in the county need not pay a higher tax although valuations have been raised in compliance with the law. If local officials will reduce their rates and so keep the levies exactly the same as they were before, local taxes will be no higher.

"This can easily be done by notifying the county clerk of the amount of the levy desired. He will then apply the lowest tax rate that will bring this amount.

"I went into this tax fight with my eyes open realizing that it would be a long struggle and I intend to stay with it and see it through. The gross inequalities, the injustices, the indefensible conditions surrounding the old system must be wiped out entirely. The reassessment, the new order of things was introduced to protect the taxpayer."

The Sign of Efficient Radio Service

When you call a member of the Supreme Service League to service your radio, it means that scientific analysis will be substituted for the hit-or-miss methods of the past. This assures you of the repairs and adjustments being performed with the same precision and accuracy that were used in the construction of your receiver. You are thus insured of the utmost in pleasure and satisfaction from its performance.

TINLEY PARK M. E. CHURCH
Gilbert Dude, Pastor
"Without the church the world would lurch."

Services will be held at the usual hour on Sunday morning at the Tinley Park Methodist church. Sunday School at 10 o'clock and morning worship at 11 o'clock.

The public is cordially invited to these services.

BACHELORS GROVE LUTHERAN CHURCH
William Greve, Pastor

Regular services are to be held next Sunday, October 20, at 10 a. m. Special services will be held on Thursday, October 21, at 7:30 p. m. The school children will render a Reformation Day program. A cordial invitation is extended to all to worship with us.

The Ladies-Aid of the German M. E. church will hold their annual bazaar and supper in the Tinley Community hall Wednesday afternoon and evening, October 30th.

The Bowling League of the Lions Club has now been organized, consisting of four teams captained by Clyde Rice, J. Milles, R. Rooker and E. Anderson. At their contest last Thursday, the teams of J. Milles and Clyde Rice won first and second place prize money respectively. Hot contests are expected during the ensuing year.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin W. Brookman, the former a one time resident of Tinley and now residing in South Bend, Indiana, were visitors at the Clarence Goessel home over the week end.

Arthur Schoeneck who recently returned from the hospital, was again present at the Lions Club meeting Monday evening.

Report has it that the Justus of 1929 parade was a success.

The Lions at their regular meeting Monday night passed a resolution to write the Rock Island railroad authorities to extend the time of the presence of the local ticket agent so tickets can be purchased at Tinley instead of having to pay on the train and getting tickets at the La Salle street station.

It was decided that four signs be purchased and be placed at vantage points in the village to avoid injuries to our children thru auto accidents. The signs will read "Protect Tinley Park Children".

Great stress was also placed on the coming Halloween party to be given at the Community Hall for the Lion members and their families.

Basketball for the younger folks was another item which caused considerable discussion. A committee was appointed consisting of Fred Gobel, H. C. Vogt, C. H. Goessel to see if some arrangements could be made to play at the Saenger hall.

It was also decided that the Lions would give a Christmas dance and a committee was appointed to work up details and arrangements for same.

All set for the big Triangle Club dance at Saenger hall, Saturday night October 26.

Henry Vogt, Sr., who has been quite ill, has recovered and is able to be up again.

The Rummy Club will open the season's first game Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Wm. Mancke.

The Happy Go Lucky Bunco Club met at the home of Mrs. Fred Schmediknecht Wednesday.

Mrs. Keleher and Mrs. Billy Brennan also entertained bunco clubs the forepart of the week.

Mrs. Henry Wilke and daughters and her mother Mrs. George Zeir, attended the funeral of the former's brother-in-law, Michael Harrington, held in Joliet Tuesday morning. He was employed on the J railroad and was just about to go to work Sunday afternoon when he was seized with a heart stroke and died very suddenly.

He was 59 years old. He is survived by his widow who formerly was Mrs. Peter Lorenz of Mokena.

Miss Minnie Stricker has resigned as operator at the local Bell telephone company.

Fritz Hoopman residing in the Elmore subdivision north of town received a shipment of valuable imported rabbits from Germany the past week.

The chicken supper held at the Community hall by the Zion Lutheran church Ladies Aid Thursday evening was a big success.

Mrs. G. Dini and aunt Mrs. Earle visited with the former's sister Mrs. Lanham at Elburn, Ill., the past week.

Her Recognition

Small Elizabeth and her mother were walking down the street when they saw an urchin approaching them. Elizabeth stuck out her tongue. When they had gone on, her mother inquired "Why did you stick out your tongue at that little boy we just passed?"

There was a pause while Elizabeth considered. "Why?" she replied, at length. "Why, mother, to show him I recognized him!"

TINLEY LEGION POST NEWS

The meeting of October 7th was well attended and two new members were added to the roster. George Price and Adolph Ceithaml joined the Post. Comrade Ceithaml is a former member of Sullivan Post of Chicago. Installation of officers for 1930 will take place at the Community hall on Wednesday evening, Nov. 13th at 8:15 p. m. This will be a public installation and it is the wish of the Post to pack the hall. We are taking this means of letting you know that we want you all to be present, bring the family along. After the installation ceremonies the floor will be cleared for dancing. The orchestra which we have secured for this event is of a unique nature—something different. The membership is slowly but steadily forging ahead and we look forward to the time when every eligible man in the community will be one of us.

Don't forget the first fall dance to be given by the Legion Post at Saenger hall, Nov. 16. Music will be furnished by Sammy Berks' popular orchestra. "Nuff sed."

IMPROVEMENTS AT IRONITE

The local Ironite plant is making a number of improvements. A new office is being built of pressed brick and the power of the plant is being changed from a gas engine to electric motor.

Attend Maywood

Meet Tuesday

Intensive organization for winter back-yard play was begun Tuesday when Mrs. John Sharpless Fox addressed Parent-Teacher association leaders of the 19th district at a meeting in Lincoln school, Maywood.

With the newly assembled associations in working order for the current school year, attention is being turned to the successful home-play movement which was sponsored this summer by The Chicago Daily News and the Illinois Congress of Parent and Teachers with Mrs. Fox as chairman.

"Now we must look around us and utilize the vacant lots for children's after-school play hours", Mrs. Fox told association presidents.

"This summer we found that the back-yard play-group idea is successful for it meets the needs of the times. But we cannot tell each of you how to form a play group for there is no plan or rule that will fit every neighborhood.

"We know there are serious problems which confront all mothers in a city, but if we try to work them out and then tell each other of the methods which we have found successful, our experience will be valuable to many mothers."

Many parent-teacher associations have been forming play groups since school opened, Mrs. Fox reported. The Parker Practice School association, of which Mrs. C. W. Balch is president, has started a large number in that neighborhood.

Through Prof. Ernest W. Burgess, the University of Chicago is co-operating to further the development of play groups in the city. He expects to have his students in sociology study plans now in operation and gather information which will be valuable to all mothers, Mrs. Fox announced today.

Mrs. Walter H. Buhlig, director of the play-group organization, also addressed the Maywood meeting, at which Mrs. J. H. DeWilde presided.

Members of the Tinley Park P. T. A. attended this meeting.

RADIO TELEGRAPH NOW GOES INLAND

Fourteen Cities in Nucleus of Network, With Plans for Twenty-nine as Wave Lengths Are Granted.

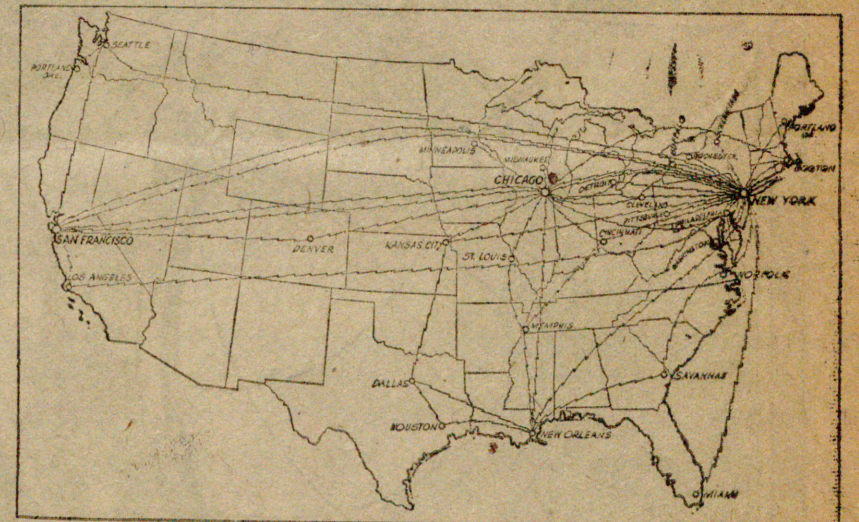

Plans for the immediate establishment of a radio-telegraph system serving all the interior of the United States through fourteen strategic cities just have been announced by General James G. Harbord, president of the Radio Corporation of America. The service will be managed and operated by the Corporation's subsidiary, R. C. A. Communications, Inc.

The stations will be at New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Denver, New Orleans, Kansas City, Detroit, Cincinnati, Cleveland, St. Louis, Boston and Washington. General Harbord's announcement reveals.

The establishment of the new service, which will give the inland cities direct communication with the world wide wireless networks radiating from New York and San Francisco to foreign countries, was made possible by the recent grant of ten exclusive sive channels and five shared channels from the Federal Radio Commission.

"We hope to extend the system," General Harbord said, "to the full list of 29 cities contemplated in our original application as soon as additional wave lengths are made available."

Other cities whose commercial importance and strategic location justified a place in the new radio network, General Harbord said, were Philadelphia, Miami, Fla., Savannah, Minneapolis, Memphis, Pittsburgh, Houston, Norfolk, Buffalo, Portland, Me., Rochester, Schenectady, Portland, Ore., Milwaukee, and many others which it is able means of communication with each other.

"But its greatest significance, as the United States turns more and more to foreign markets, is that it brings Europe, South America and the Orient closer to America through radio's new and efficient avenues of communication."

Supplementing General Harbord's announcement, W. A. Winterbottom, vice-president in charge of communications, revealed that the construction program for the fourteen cities was already under way. Three million dollars has been set aside for the initial expenditure.

CARRIES EAR OF CORN FOR A CHARM

M. H. Morse of Wyoming, Iowa, a veteran of the Union forces, believes that this ear of corn is a wonderful talisman. At the G. A. R. convention held at Portland, Maine, the ear of corn was the center of attraction. At two national conventions of the G. A. R., this same ear of corn was carried by him. He is showing it to William B. Webber of Massachusetts. The corn averaged 88 bushels to an acre and ran 14 feet high. No wonder the old-timer is proud of his unusual mascot.
